3a. TP-PRE-0325-00044, 4502 N 1st Avenue

Courtesy Review/National Register- Individually Listed (1986); Rillito Racetrack Historic District (2012).

Pima County Parks and Recreation Department proposes to replace all existing rail and fencing on the main oval and chute at the Rillito Racetrack with a modern, HISA-approved rail made of PVC to meet current international industry standards. All existing track railing and footings will be removed and metal components recycled. The new PVC railing system will follow the existing rail layout and include four slip rails as access points.

Staff Taku presented background on the project noting that as a Courtesy Review, no action is required from PRS. Pima County requested to present an informational presentation and receive feedback as part of a funding requirement.

Scott O'Mack from Pima County Conservation Lands and Resources and Matt Smith from Pima County Parks and Recreation Department provided an overview of the project, clarified points, and answered questions during the presentation.

Discussion was held. PRS supported the proposal and concurred that no adverse effects to the district will occur as a result of the project, particularly because fencing and railing are reversible. No action was taken.

Three current and/or previous members of the FLHZAB were present: Mary Lou Fragomeni-Nuttall, Elaine Hill, and Daniel Hill. Elaine Hill led the discussion and took notes. Daniel Hill discussed the landscaping features. Discussion was held. PRS requested the Development Zone (DZ) section be reviewed by staff, as the draft guidelines implied that the Advisory Board determines the DZ, but the Unified Development Code requires staff to determine the DZ. Some statements were specifically asked to be removed, including a portion of the following statement on page 7: "Within the Fort Lowell Historic Preservation Zone, new construction, alterations, or additions to a Contributing-non-historic or Non-contributing structure ~~shall reflect~~ the architectural style of". The word "reflect" was considered the issue. Instead, PRS recommended "compatible with."
